Jazz group gets off to a solid beginning

LAWRENCE SPECKER
 Entertainment Reporter
Press-Register (Mobile, AL)
 11 September 2001

They came in response to an open invitation from Kevin Lee. His stated goal: To energize the jazz scene in Mobile by giving fans a channel through which to show their support.

"Music, like everything else, is a matter of economics," he told his listeners Monday evening. "You've got to get out there, you've got to support the kind of music you like."

MOJO's first priority, he said, would be to "establish ourselves as an economic entity": to prove to club owners that if they hire jazz bands, listeners will come.

As enthusiasm in the room ran high, ambitious plans were suggested: bus trips to New Orleans, musicians' clinics, a monthly concert series featuring out-of-town artists.

In keeping with Lee's pragmatic approach, however, the group settled on a much more immediate first step: They agreed to turn out Sunday for a regular weekly concert at Elks Lodge No. 244.

The concert, featuring C.T.'s Jazz Ensemble, will last from 7 to 10 p.m. at the lodge, at the corner of State and Warren streets. A small cover charge will apply.

Group member Ted Keeby, present at the gathering, described the group as a "classic jazz" septet joined by vocalist Julia Simms.

For the longer term, MOJO selected a five-member steering committee to draft an organizational framework to be presented at an October meeting.

The group also settled on an e-mail newsletter as its primary mode of communication. The newsletter will be compiled by "MOJO Muse" Carmen Brown, host of a Sunday jazz program on WDLT-FM 98.3. For more details on MOJO's plans, e-mail the organization at MobileJazz@aol.com.

Among those present for Monday's gathering were board members of the Mobile Jazz Festival, a 35-year-old organization with a mission similar to MOJO's.
